Follow the Blackbirds American Indian Studies is a non-profit organization dedicated to preserving and promoting the rich culture and heritage of the American Indian people. We offer a variety of educational programs, workshops, and events that are designed to teach people about American Indian history, culture, and traditions.

Our Mission

Our mission is to educate the public about the rich culture and heritage of the American Indian people. We believe that by increasing understanding and appreciation of American Indian culture, we can help to create a more just and equitable world.

Our Programs

We offer a variety of educational programs, workshops, and events that are designed to teach people about American Indian history, culture, and traditions. Our programs are open to people of all ages and backgrounds.

- Educational programs: We offer a variety of educational programs that are designed to teach people about American Indian history, culture, and traditions. Our programs include lectures, workshops, and field trips.
- Workshops: We offer a variety of workshops that are designed to teach people about specific aspects of American Indian culture. Our workshops include topics such as beadwork, pottery, and traditional dance.
- Events: We host a variety of events throughout the year that are designed to celebrate American Indian culture. Our events include powwows, art exhibitions, and film screenings.

Our Impact

We have reached over 100,000 people through our educational programs, workshops, and events. Our programs have helped to increase understanding and appreciation of American Indian culture, and have inspired people to learn more about the American Indian people.

How You Can Help

There are many ways that you can help us to continue our work. You can:

- Donate: Your donation will help us to continue to offer our educational programs, workshops, and events.

- Volunteer: We always need volunteers to help us with our programs and events.
- Spread the word: Tell your friends and family about our organization and our work.
